

STEAM Academy December 2018

Students pictured below have been busy over the past few months. On December 3rd our Junior STEAM Academy members travelled to Jefferson University to see a final presentation in a Junior level industrial design course. Students were able to see what a finished capstone should look like, as well as interact with the presenters and vote on which design they thought was the best. Students were also given a tour of the industrial design department and shown the facilities that are used on a daily basis.

On December 13th, our Senior STEAM Academy members completed their practice capstone presentations to receive feedback for their work in preparation of their final presentations that are to be held at Camden County College on January 24th, 2018. The Seniors that presented received valuable feedback from principals, supervisors, administrators, and their peers. The Junior STEAM members were also in attendance to take note of what was done well and what presentations were lacking.

Upcoming Events:

January 11th: Junior STEAM members must have their conferences with Mr. Kozak complete to finalize their topic for the start of their capstone process.

January 24th: STEAM Capstone Presentations:
6pm, Camden County College

You are cordially invited to the Senior Capstone Show for the BHPRSD S.T.E.A.M. Academy. Come view the student's final work on their unique projects.
