PART I: UNIT RATIONALE

WHY ARE STUDENTS LEARNING THIS CONTENT AND THESE SKILLS?

Course/Unit Title: AP USII / Unit 1: Industrial America: 1870-1900	Unit Summary: As America recovered from the Civil War, the country entered its Second Industrial Revolution. This era called for a large influx of new immigrants who often clashed with the exiting populations and the newly freed African Americans. The Second Industrial Revolution also highlighted the problems of the urban areas and exposed the corruption in government.
Grade Level(s): 11
Essential Question(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What were the causes of the Second Industrial Revolution? • How does industrialization change the U.S. in the late part of the 20th century? • What were the roles of the Robber Barons? • Is Social Darwinism paternalism? • How successful were the unions? • How did African Americans respond to the new industrialization? • What was the effect of the movement of many new peoples into the cities? • Why are farmers so neglected in history? • What was life like in the urban areas in the late 1800's? • What role did corruption play in local and national politics? 	Enduring Understanding(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Second Industrial Revolution created modern America but put tremendous strains on minorities and farmers. Second Industrial Revolution <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Second Industrial Revolution created modern America but put tremendous strains on minorities and farmers. The Rise of Industrial America <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The new bosses of business were perceived as both entrepreneurs and robber barons. • Social Darwinism established a set of societal rules that aggrieved many. • Unions' efforts to organize and improve working conditions were largely unsuccessful. The New Immigrants , African Americans and the Cities <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The New Immigration changed the population of the U.S. and how it viewed itself. • African Americans had a difficult time entering into the post-Civil War society, in spite of their attempts to gain some civil rights. • Cities in the late 1800's were often nothing more than terrible ghettos, designed to house new members of the industrial class. • Corruption penetrated all levels of government. Populism <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Farmers, long neglected in history, begin a reform movement that will be unsuccessful for now but later picked up by the Progressives.

WHY ARE STUDENTS LEARNING THIS CONTENT AND THESE SKILLS?

Course/Unit Title: APUSH /Unit 2 - The Emergence of Modern America: 1900-1930	Unit Summary: America began to reach overseas and establish an empire, while reforming itself at home. World War I provided a sea change that brought the United States back into its own borders. The 1920's, while seen by many as one long, illegal party, was actually a very tense period, that pitted the old ways of the agrarian peoples against the new ways of the urban peoples and foreshadowed the future of the U.S.
Grade Level(s): 11
Essential Question(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What drove the U.S. to change its policy of isolationism to imperialism? • How does media influence the U.S. decision to enter a war? • What roles does imperialism play in the conflicts of the late 19th century? • What role does reform play in U.S. history? • How do minorities and women fare in Progressivism? • What influence does the change in foreign policy have on 20th century America? • How does society change in the 1920's? • What causes the crash that resulted in a worldwide depression? 	Enduring Understanding(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The growth of new markets led the U.S to change its foreign policies and the growth of new industries led the U.S. to reform some of its business practices. Imperialism <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The U.S created an enormous change in its own history by moving from isolationism to imperialism. • Media played an important role in changing America's policies. Progressivism <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reforms in history tend to be cyclical in nature and usually increase peoples' rights and their access to the government. WWI <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The change from isolationism to interventionism led the U.S. to become involved in a world war. The 20's <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reactions to failures in the peace treaty forced the U.S. to again become isolationist. • The U.S. found itself pulled between the conservatism of the old, rural values and the rapid changes of the new urban centers. • With shorter work hours and increases in salaries, the U.S. found itself in the midst of a renaissance of art, literature and music. • Overspending, consumer debt and contraction of businesses eventually led to the Depression.

WHY ARE STUDENTS LEARNING THIS CONTENT AND THESE SKILLS?

Course/Unit Title: APUSII /Unit 3 - The Depression, the New Deal and WWII: 1929-1945	Unit Summary: As the world entered a Depression, different countries reacted in different ways. The U.S elected FDR who began a New Deal. Other leaders in the rest of the world pursued other options which resulted in another world war, which eventually involved the U.S. By 1945, a new world shaped by a terrible new weapon emerged with two super powers.
Grade Level(s): 11
Essential Question(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What causes massive depressions? • How do governments react to depressions? • How does this reaction influence world politics and policies? • How can leaders reform a broken system? • What causes countries to become aggressive after only a short period of peace? • What policies promote appeasement? • Intervention? • What new technologies are brought to WWII? • How does U.S. intervention aid in destroying dictators? • How do various countries react to humanitarian crises? • How can the world prevent future holocaust? • How is the rest of the 20th century changed by the results of WWII? 	Enduring Understanding(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Depression, the New Deal and the war changed the way that the U.S. viewed itself and the world. The Great Depression <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Depressions/recessions can be cyclical and/or man-made. • The reactions of government to the Great Depression led to changes in government’s and policies that affected not only the U.S but the rest of the world. • Recovery programs were important but so were reforms that protected the system from future economic down turns. The Road to WWII <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Vanquished governments sought revenge on smaller weaker countries, as well as larger advisories. • A crucial skill for governments was to know when to appease and when to intervene. WWII <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • New technologies used in both war and medicine were not often recognized at first but greatly affected the outcome of wars. • American intervention into “The Good War” proved critical in world history. • As war’s end, democracies rushed in to fill the vacuums of leadership, as did totalitarian governments. • All peoples must learn the lessons of the Holocaust – Never Forget! • WWII was an economic, military and humanitarian catastrophe for much of the world; what emerged will direct world policies for the next 45 years.

ENGAGING STUDENTS • FOSTERING ACHIEVEMENT • CULTIVATING 21ST CENTURY GLOBAL SKILLS

WHY ARE STUDENTS LEARNING THIS CONTENT AND THESE SKILLS?

Course/Unit Title: APUSII/ Unit 5 - The Modern World: 1974-Present	Unit Summary: As America moves from the old century to the new, she is confronted with many problems and many opportunities. The U.S. recovers both politically and economically from the Vietnam War and Watergate. A new generation of leaders comes to politics. Multiculturalism, globalization, immigration, environmentalism and the changing population of the U.S. are issues that are hotly debated and deeply divisive. But the most important theme of this time period is terrorism and war and how the U.S. will endeavor to recover its former standing in the world.
Grade Level(s): 11
Essential Question(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How does a government recover from national scandals? • What causes economic crashes? • Why is Reagan viewed as such an iconic president in U.S. history? • What role does prejudice continue to play in the modern era? • What worldwide pressures eventually end the Cold War? • Why does communism continue to succeed in China? • When and where should the U.S. commit troops to foreign problems? • What fuels domestic terrorism? • Why does the public chose to disregard some scandals? • What changes America's views on environmentalism and globalization? 	Enduring Understanding(s): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Multiculturalism, globalization, immigration, environmentalism, the changing face of the US and terrorism are issues that confront the US in the new century. The Late 70's <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Watergate and the Vietnam War caused the U.S. to re-evaluate both its foreign and domestic policies. • Inflation caused by the oil embargo remained unchecked by the Carter administration. • As the Cold War continued, the U.S. found a way to reach out to the Middle East to begin a peace process. Reagan and the 80's <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reagan's election signals the rise of a new Republican coalition. • In spite of a serious recession, Reagan's 'morning in America' moment encourages Americans to move past the scandals and wars of the previous 20 years. • Reagan's refusal to recognize AIDS, as well as the Republican ads of 1988 prove that Americans have yet to push past some difficult barriers. • A confluence of events and personalities, beginning in 1981, eventually end the Cold War. • In spite of momentous changes in the world, China brutally repressed its own pro-democracy movement. • US troops commitments to Lebanon and Saudi Arabia resulted in terrible consequences. The 90's and beyond <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Americans learned to look within at its own terrorists after Oklahoma City. • Clinton's scandals do not affect his popularity. • The Contract with America resulted from some of Clinton's policies but he managed to sustain the move toward globalization and environmentalism, as well as balance the budget.

- How will we deal with a future world where our enemies sponsor terrorism?
- What will be the outcome of our incursions into Iraq and Afghanistan?
- How will the election of the first African American as President change the U.S.?

- 9/11, the worst act of terrorism on American soil, resulted in the U.S. military invading both Afghanistan and Iraq.
- In the future, the U.S. will have to confront smaller, though no less lethal, sponsors of terrorism.
- The election of the first African American president, as well as the strong presence of women and minorities in the elections of 2008 and 2012, displayed the changes of the population and the reactions to those change.
